Martin Peterson Receives Scholarships from Alpha Gamma Rho

(25 Jan 2012 Fargo, North Dakota) Martin Peterson of Grove City, MN has each received a $1000 Agricultural Leadership Scholarship from Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho (AGR) at North Dakota State University. Martin is a freshman majoring in Agribusiness.

To receive the Agriculture Leadership Scholarship, Martin displayed exceptional participation and leadership in agriculture-related activities as well as high academic achievement. In total, Epsilon distributes over $6,000 in scholarship and award dollars annually to encourage students to improve their academic performance, pursue leadership development opportunities, and to explore agricultural careers.

Alpha Gamma Rho is a social as well as professional organization for young men pursuing an undergraduate or post-graduate degree in agriculture, food, fiber, life sciences, natural resources, forestry, environmental or related agricultural fields. AGR was the first Greek organization established on the NDSU campus and is celebrating its centennial in 2013. The Chapter was installed on March 24, 1913 as the fifth chapter of the national fraternity and given the namesake Epsilon, which is the fifth letter of the Greek alphabet. Today Epsilon is one of 70 AGR chapters across the US.

Qualified individuals can submit their application online at <http://agrfargo.org/scholarship-info>.
